Hip Hip Hooray for summer!!!!

Students need a break from homework and assignments, but you don't want to completely check out from learning.

With your family's more relaxed schedule, I hope you will find time to read. Reading with your children will keep their brains active, increase attention span and grow their vocabulary. Here are some opportunities to inspire your children to read throughout the summer.

Check out these reading programs that offer incentives for your children.

Barnes & Noble – For kids in grades 1-6, get a free book after reading 8 books by filling out a Reading Journal. Then bring the completed journal to a Barnes & Noble store between July 1 and August 31, 2026 to get your free book from the provided list on the journal.

Half Price Books – Registration is now open for this one! Starting on June 1, children 14 and under who read 300 minutes over June and July (that's only 5 mins/day) will earn $5 free Bookworm Bucks and a camp sticker sheet. There are also additional summer reading activities.

Pizza Hut – This classic program lets children pre-K through 6th grade earn a free personal pan single-topping pizza in exchange for meeting their parent-set reading goals during the months of June, July, and August.

The Flathead County Library also has a summer reading program. Flathead County Library – Flathead County Libraries. Explore. Connect. Create.
